It's one thing for WGU not to offer study material for the 800-series exams. It's another thing for them to provide you with a generic A+ voucher and mandate that you take an outdated exam (i.e., prohibiting you from validating your Win7 and mobile device experience and mandating that you study outdated technology such as parallel ports and ...

I obtained a total of 3 A.S. degrees with my local community college, 1 in 2009 than the other 2 in 2010. I was just wondering if the amount of time you received your degrees mattered to what classes would count as credit with WGU. I've already sent WGU 3 transcripts and just waiting on a final one to hopefully find out what transferred over.
